

A Study of Graph Databases

Neo4j is a graph database created by Neo Technology.

It uses Cypher as its query language.

Property graphs store data as nodes and relationships.

METHODS

FastAPI is a Python web framework created by Sebastian Ramirez.

The system depends on PostgreSQL for relational storage.

Kubernetes is an orchestration system created by Google.

CONCLUSION

Graph databases suit highly connected data.

Cypher queries express traversals concisely.

REFERENCES

- Aassal, A. El, Mehran University Research Journal, 2020.
- Verma, R.M., Journal of Cyber Security Studies, 2021.
- Nikhita, G., Study of Cloud Computing in HealthCare, 2019.